

Baltimore Testimonials.

Mr. C. A. Jones, 617 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md., a mail-carrier for 26 years at Manchester, New Hampshire, says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man cured me of eczema of thirty years standing. Yes, after scratching and itching, and itching and itching, in fact no end of scratching and itching, muscular rheumatism, dyspepsia and indigestion, incurable piles, eczema of the head and throat; I had no taste nor smell; and a complication of ailments. I had to give up carrying letters, in fact I was not able to do anything. My feet and hands were cracked to the bones. In fact my whole body was a mass of sores and scales. My stomach was sick and sour at all times. I spent money first with one doctor and then another, but got no relief, but seemed to get worse all the time until some one advised me to go to the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 North Eutaw Street, Baltimore and I must say I got a permanent cure in every way.

Respectfully,
C. A. JONES,
617 W. Franklin St.

Mr. George Brosius, 1127 Patterson Avenue, Baltimore, Md., says the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md., cured me of a terrible cough, pneumonia, sciatica, rheumatism, dyspepsia, indigestion, a fearful case of gout in my feet, and a fearful case of piles and hemorrhoids. I was constantly in pain from the top of my head to the end of my toes. Also one of my customers of a very serious stomach complaint. He was so sick that he vomited for sixteen days. He could not keep anything in his stomach. He had eight of the best doctors in Baltimore and not one of them did him any good, but made him worse and worse all the time. I told his wife to go and see the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 North Eutaw St. He could cure him he would certainly cure him, and if the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man did not cure I would give her twenty dollars. She did as I told her. She said he gave him three doses of his herb tea and he did vomit any more, so he took the Old Indian Herb Man's tea for eight days. That has been three months ago. Now

CAMP POLAND NOTES

6th Va., Vol. Inf.,
Camp Poland,
Knoxville, Tenn.,
November 16, 1898.

Everything is quiet in camp. Our troubles have been amicably adjusted and peace reigns supreme. The breaking up of Camp Poland has begun. The Second Ohio starting the movement by leaving yesterday afternoon, carrying the property and attaches of the Brigade Headquarters with them. Our command is ordered to leave Saturday afternoon and will begin to pack up Friday evening. We will travel in 3 sections.

The 1st Battalion leaving first, with the Hospital corps attached and using nine passenger cars, a Pullman for the officers and five box cars. The second section will carry the 2nd Battalion, with the same number of cars, and the 3rd will be the cooking outfit and all property belonging to the Q. M. Department.

The following orders have been issued in regard to the movement: The command will be supplied with 1 day's rations to be taken in the passenger cars under charge of the Quartermaster of each company who will issue the same at each meal. In addition each man will carry lunch and coffee in his haversack and canteen. The camp details will be thoroughly cleaned and carried by each company. The last meal to be issued will be breakfast Saturday morning, after which lunch will be issued. The cooking outfit and day's rations will be left for the last train on each wagon and will not be removed from the wagons until arrival at destination. Each enlisted man will wear the usual fatigue uniform and heavy marching order; and all other articles will be packed in boxes, each bundle to be marked with the owner's name and each box to be marked with the letter of the company.

There will be one box car for the property of each company. Company commanders and Q. M. Sergeants will take a memorandum of the number of each car.

When the movement begins there will be two wagons assigned to each company which will continue with that company for all hauling. There will also be one wagon for the hospital and the other three will report to the Quartermaster. The heaviest articles, such as boxes, tent poles etc., will be loaded first. The tents, cots, and other articles belonging to the command being placed on top of loads in the cars. Company commanders will detail one non-commissioned officer and six men to go with the first two loads, and will take with them all their equipment so as to avoid loss. No other men will go to the cars or with the wagons unless especially designated, in other words when all property has been removed from camp, and the camp cleaned and the sinks filled, all men except the teamsters and the details above named will be here to march over to the train.

The old guard fatigue, on the day of moving will prepare themselves early in the morning for duty under the Quartermaster. The two non-commissioned officers in charge of the cots, twenty teamsters and the hostlers will go on the train with the stock. Wagon attendants, sick etc., will go with their respective companies, and the members of the hospital corps will go with company G. The Quartermaster will issue travel rations, and will take care to turn over to the Quartermaster, for the men on the stock train deducting the same from the respective companies to which they belong. Captain W. A. Hankins, not being sufficiently well to travel will be left behind, and will join the command as soon as his strength permits him.

Regimental and Battalion drills are now being held regularly, and the boys have become very proficient. Regimental parades are held every afternoon when the weather permits and at all of these formations, Col. Trotter takes the parade. Major J. B. Johnson has acted Lieutenant Colonel and Captain E. A. Graves as major of the 1st Battalion, Captain E. L. Masurier major of the 2nd Battalion. Company D is temporarily assigned to the 2nd Battalion, and company F from the 2nd to the 1st. Musician Sidney Jones has been transferred from C to F company. The drum corps has made very rapid progress, and has reached a high state of proficiency under the direction of Musician F. W. Randolph.

Private Wilson, Company D, has been detailed as blacksmith in the Quartermaster's Department.

A social club has been organized in camp and is known as the "Wednesday Social." It meets every Wednesday night after taps and we have been able to catch on to the secrets, although we are not of the members. Lieut. W. H. Anderson is the chief muck-muck, but the rules of the club, pledge the members to secrecy. This has been a great week for social pleasures. The people of Knoxville, knowing this to be our last week in the city has fairly outdone themselves to make it pleasant for the boys before they leave.

Lieutenants Gilpin and Parham entertained a small party of ladies and gentlemen of Knoxville, at the officers' dining hall, Monday evening. Among the most pleasant gatherings we have attended, was a formal tea given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hammett in McGhee St. Among those present were the host and hostess, and their two daughters, Misses Maize and Lula Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Todd Rev. T. F. Blue, E. S. Porter, Lieutenants Wm. H. Anderson and Lee J. Wyche, Sergeant Majors Robert A. Johnson, Hamilton C. O'Connell and Sergeant and Mrs. Mason of Petersburg, Va.

The Paymaster arrived in camp Monday morning and began paying the boys off, many of whom were seriously in need of cash. Our command was not reached until Wednesday morning, and he was a very welcome visitor. The men were all behaving themselves in a very orderly manner. The papers of this city came out in an editorial last week and complimented the Sixth Virginia on their neat appearance and gentlemanly conduct since they have been stationed in Knoxville, and the boys themselves are loth to leave, as they have been royally treated by the citizens of this city, both white and colored. Many new attachments have been formed and a few of the boys have gotten married, but the command is still intact, and may be said to be as good as new.

HELP WANTED IN NEW YORK.
100 colored girls and men wanted in New York city as cooks, chambermaids, butlers, nurses, general houseworkers and farm hands. Wages from $10 to $40 per month. Any one desiring good homes in the North can secure it by writing to the Southern Baptist Mission, No. 428 West 127th St., New York City, Rev. N. S. Epps, Prop. We will meet any personal boat or train if required.

At the same moment his eye caught the flagstaff, and there, where his friend had evidently forgotten it the afternoon before, stuck the knife. With the haste of life and death Mr. Witthaus pulled it out and began to saw away at the buoy, and he freed it and threw himself off the deck into the sea just in time to get beyond the vortex that came as the great ship went down, sucking hundreds of victims with it. Mr. Witthaus floated about for some

Mrs. Fannie Bell, 1128 Huntington Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, says: The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man cured me of eczema, dropsy, indigestion, dyspepsia, liver complaint, badly constipated bowels, consumption of the chest, stricture of the urethra, Bright's disease of the kidneys, white, or female weakness and aches and pains from the top of my head to the end of my toes, when the best physicians and doctors in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, said there was no cure for me, and had but a few days to live.

I was swelled as big as a barrel from dropsy and other complaints, and death stared me in the face and every breath seemed to be my last. My friends hearing of the many wonderful cures the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's herb teas were effecting persuaded me to go and give him a trial, and I did so. It was a God-send that I did. When I went to him I was in an awful state. I was swelled from the top of my head to the end of my toes. My arms, legs and feet were more like barrels; they were so terribly swollen and painful and at the same time I had no strength left. Everything that went into my stomach made me deadly sick. I was constantly in awful pain, but when I commenced taking the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's herb teas at 618 North Eutaw street, for my troubles, my improvement was immediate and wonderful. My swelling disappeared, my appetite increased, as did my strength. I feel as if I owed my life to the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man and can never say enough in his praise. I will only be too glad to have any skeptic write to me that I may tell him more fully of the wonderful cures he effected in my case. I have been well for over two years.

Mrs. FANNIE BELL,
2648 Huntington Ave.

Mrs. Mary Hennick, 706 Fremont St. says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md., cured me of neuralgia of the head, stomach and bowels, after I had been taking patent medicines of all kinds and doctors' medicines for years. I only took six bottles of the Old Indian Herb Man's herb teas and can assure every one that his herb teas made a new woman of me in every way. I have been well for two years and feel better every day, with no aches or pains or bad feeling of any kind. No one knows the good of health until health has gone. Health is always wealth. I know numbers that the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man has cured and of the most serious diseases known to man or woman—diseases that the best physicians said there was no cure for."

Mrs. MARY HENICK,
706 Fremont St., Baltimore.

Mr. P. C. Galster, 819 N. Eden street, wholesale merchant, 104 Hopkins Place, says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man cured me of dyspepsia, indigestion, liver, bowel, kidney and bladder troubles, when the best physicians or doctors said there was no cure for me. My bladder was weak I could not hold my water. I had to wear napkins like a new born babe to keep the water from soiling my trousers. The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 and 616 N. Eutaw street, cured me with his herb teas of all my troubles, also my wife of a female trouble also a son of eczema. We have been well for two years and feel better every day.

P. C. GALSTER,
819 N. Eden street, Baltimore.

Mr. John F. Bayer, 326 South Fremont street, business place, corner of Conway and Eutaw streets says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 and 616 N. Eutaw street, cured me of stomach, liver, bowels and kidney trouble when the doctors and professors in three of the best hospitals in Baltimore, one in Boston, one in New York, and one in Philadelphia said there was no cure for me without taking one of my kidneys out of my body so I went home to die. I was advised by a friend to go and see the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 and 616 N. Eutaw street, and did so. It took four men to help me out of the wagon into the Old Indian Herb Man's office. He looked at me and asked me some questions and then told me in three hours' time he would take all pains from me so that I could get in my wagon without help, and do it easily; so I did and in three days time felt apparently as well as ever. Before going to the Old Indian Herb Medicine man it was necessary to lift me out of bed like a new born infant and such pains and aches that no human tongue can describe. My head, back, arms, and hands, body and legs were all pains and aches. But the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's herb teas cured me in every way."

JOHN F. BAYER,
326 S. Fremont St., Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Louise Utz, 1722 N. Collington Avenue, Baltimore, Md., says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, cured my son, Harry M. Utz, of eczema and running sores on his face; his lips were sore and swollen terribly at all times; they pained so no human tongue can tell. My bowels were terribly disipated. I would go from 12 to 20 days without any action of the bowels. From this I got a sick and sour stomach causing a bad taste and odor giving me the headache day and night. I was very nervous when I had these headaches, and could not hold anything nor stand up."

Every Spring I was bothered with sest worms, or candy worms as some people call them, and they caused me to scratch and scratch until my rectum was as raw as a piece of beef. The doctor gave me medicines to carry off the worms, and it worked me so until I passed nothing but pure blood, causing me to suffer from dysentery for eight weeks, until I was terribly broken down and thin as a skeleton. I had seven physicians and three of the best homoeopathic doctors that could be found in the city. They came to the conclusion to perform an operation and cut my lip off. They thought these sores were cancer. My mother said 'No, let him die whole and not in pieces. One of my friends, Mr. Wm. Rickett, whom the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man had cured, as did he his family also, told me to give him a trial. I did so, and it was a God-send that I did. When I went to the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 N. Eutaw St., he told me not to take any other medicine while taking his, and that he could not give me anything that tasted like sugar, honey or candy. I told him I would take anything that would do me good.

"I took five bottles of the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's herb teas and they cured me in every way. Now I have no eczema or sores, no constipated bowels. My bowels move regular twice a day. I have no more headache, aches, and feel good when I wake in the morning. My breath is not offensive and have gained 14 pounds in weight in the past three months. I can cheerfully recommend the Old Indian Herb Medicines in every way and hope to be able to return his kindness."

Yours truly,

THIS WILL PROVE IT.

Mr. Asa H. Smith, 1509 West Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I am seventy years of age and was cured by use of Indian Herb Medicine. I had rheumatism twelve years; I had also vertigo, lumbago, kidney, blood, bladder, throat, lungs and stomach troubles; I had constipated bowels and was in such a condition for months that I could not move or walk without the assistance of my wife or one of the family. I spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and medicine, but without any results, and had at last given up hope of being cured until I was insisted upon by a friend to go and try the Old Indian Herb Medicines, and as soon as I had taken two bottles I was relieved, and have continued until now I have taken twelve bottles. Today I am fully as healthy as a man of my age can expect to feel, and I have no rheumatism nor have I any of the other diseases that I complained of for so many years. I am as healthy today as any other man in the state of Maryland, and I can never speak too highly of the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man and of his herb medicine. I have shipped dozens of bottles of the medicine to my many friends that complain of rheumatism and not one of them but say that it has cured them. You can call at any time to my place of business and I can tell you in person what wonders the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man and his medicines have done for me."

Mrs. A. E. Jeffries, 1829 Hartford Avenue, says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 618 N. Eutaw street, cured me of dyspepsia, indigestion, badly constipated bowels, inflammatory rheumatism, lumbago, vertigo in the head, pains, aches and shilly feelings from the top of my head to the end of my toes. I was so bad with vertigo that to me it look like flying horses on a 'merry-go-round,' my legs, feet, arms and body were terribly painful, sore and feverish, was a fearful wreck in every way and took all kinds of doctors' medicines, but I got no better. I tried hospitals and dispensaries and still got worse. Numbers of my friends advised me to give the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man a trial and I did so; it was a God-send to me, and I took only 12 bottles of the herb teas to cure me and today I am a well man in every way."

SAVED BY A POCKET KNIFE.

A Survivor of the Ville de Havre Tails of Remarkable Escape.

By the sinking of La Bourgogne and the awful loss of life is recalled the accident to the Ville de Havre of the same line in 1872, when the latter named ship was struck at night and went down at once, carrying almost all on board. Pitifully few were those who were saved from the Havre, but among them was the prominent New York lawyer Witthaus, and the way in which he escaped is so extraordinary that it sounds like a well-concocted tale. Instead of the plain fact that Mr. Witthaus vouches it to be.

The afternoon preceding the accident to the Havre Mr. Witthaus, with another man, was on deck, and Mr. Witthaus was leaning against the rail under the flagstaff in the stern. As the two men stood there talking the friend put his hand on the large life buoy that was hanging over the side, and called Mr. Witthaus' attention to it.

"Look," he said, "these life buoys are simply screaming fables. This one here is so stiff and hard with coats of paint that you couldn't get it free except by cutting it with a knife."

Mr. Witthaus attempted to move it, but found it glued hard and fast. The friend took out his knife and began idly sticking it into the soft pine of the flagstaff, and amused himself as the rest of the time that they talked before they were interrupted by the dinner gong. Then they both went below.

Early the next morning while the passengers were still asleep the collision occurred, and in the mad panic that at once followed Mr. Witthaus did what he could to get the women and children into the lifeboats. From the first he regarded himself as doomed, for there were not nearly boats enough for all the passengers, and it was evident that the ship would float only a few minutes. Several women whom he knew on board he found places for at once, only to see the boat overturn as soon as it was launched, and all go down, one of them with her two little children in her arms.

Horried and sickened by the sight, he went back to the stern of the ship, which was higher out of the water than the bow, to wait until he, too, went down, and stood leaning again on the flagstaff. As he did so in a flash he recollected the conversation of the afternoon before, and looked over the rail. There still hung the life-buoy stiff and immovable, and the instinct of self-preservation sprang to life once more. A knife to free the buoy and he might be saved, but he had none with him, and to find one was impossible with the ship liable to go down at any second.

At the same moment his eye caught the flagstaff, and there, where his friend had evidently forgotten it the afternoon before, stuck the knife. With the haste of life and death Mr. Witthaus pulled it out and began to saw away at the buoy, and he freed it and threw himself off the deck into the sea just in time to get beyond the vortex that came as the great ship went down, sucking hundreds of victims with it. Mr. Witthaus floated about for some

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Russet complexion are now much worn in connection with tanned shoes. The former are rather more expensive than the latter, and there is really no limit to the amount sometimes paid for them.

That tired feeling so much in request in the spring and early summer is now considered passe, and in its place strong and elastic sensations are widely affected.

Persons with stern noses find it convenient to wear a gloomy expression trimmed with corrugated brows. The cutting is on the bias and usually by old acquaintances.

Court plasters of varying hues to suit the taste of the wearer, are much affected by the devotees of the wheel, while tetanus is quite common with persons who have been struggling with golf dialect.

Shoes which were formerly worn with the sole carried horizontally now appear with their heels on a bias, and pantaloons formerly of a dull surface are now seen with quite a glossy exterior.

It is still quite common with young gentlemen to wear their names as well as their hair parted in the middle. In the case of some gentlemen no longer youthful the parting of the hair is done with a towel.

One of the freaks of fashion apropos of the dismemberment of China, is to have the house plentifully supplied with broken dishes. The lady of the kitchen is usually charged with the duty of supplying these, with very gratifying results.

HEALTH SUGGESTIONS.

Try cranberries for malaria.

Try a sun bath for rheumatism.

Try clam broth for a weak stomach.

Try gargling poultice for erysipelas.

Try gargling lager beer for cure of sore throat.

Try eating fresh radishes and yellow turnips for gravel.

Try swallowing saliva when troubled with sour stomach.

Try eating onions and horseradish to relieve dropsical swellings.

Try butter milk for the removal of freckles, tan and butternut stains.

Try the croup tipper when a child is likely to be troubled with croup.

Try hot fannel over the seat of neuralgic pain, and renew frequently.

Try taking cod liver oil in tomato catsup if you want to make it palatable.

Try hard cider—a wineglassful three times a day—for ague and rheumatism.
